Message from Conner Inn Executive Committee Chair 2016

Welcome to the 8th Annual Reception and Dinner of the Hon. William C. Conner Inn of Court. Tonight we are celebrating the distinguished Senior Judges of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, United States District Court for the Eastern District of New York and United States District Court for the Southern District of New York by presenting them with 2016 Conner Inn Justice Awards for their continued commitment to the administration of justice and advancement of the rule of law. We are also very proud to present the 2016 Conner Inn Excellence Award to Hon. Timothy B. Dyk of the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit for his dedication to the promotion of excellence in our profession.

Please enjoy this commemorative journal, including biographies of our award recipients and an article written by Melvin Garner that highlights the many excellent programs that were presented by judges, senior lawyers, junior lawyers and law student members of the Conner Inn during its seventh year of substantive IP programs. We had a great year last year and are looking forward to another great year this year due to the enthusiasm of our membership to continue to build on Judge Conner's legacy of excellence and professionalism.

This year we have implemented three initiatives. First, we started our substantive program schedule in the Fall. Second, we are involving in house counsel, business people, scientists and entrepreneurs in our substantive programs and special events. Third, we are encouraging greater student participation in the Conner Inn with the help of former Conner Inn student members who have become associate members.

As chair of the Executive Committee, I would like to thank our Conner Inn President and Counselor, Judge J. Paul Oetken and Judge Roslynn Mauskopf, respectively, for their continued leadership; the other members of the Executive Committee (Jeffrey Butler, Melvin Garner, Patrice Jean, and John Lane) for their commitment; Jeffrey Butler and Melvin Garner for coordinating this event and putting together this commemorative journal; Judge Richard Linn and the Linn Inn Alliance of now twenty-four other intellectual-property-focused Inns of Court around the country and in Tokyo for their vision and initiative; and each of you for your enthusiastic support of the Conner Inn and its mission to promote professionalism, legal skills, ethics and civility in the practice of intellectual property law which Judge Conner exemplified. I am confident that Judge Conner would have been proud of the past accomplishments and future direction of the Conner Inn.

Hon. William C. Conner Inn Activities for the Year 2014-2015

by Melvin C. Garner

The Conner Inn kicked off its Seventh Year with a cocktail reception at the club Beauty & Essex, on November 18, 2014. By now long time members are familiar with the club and its pawn shop entrance, since it has been the site of several Inn events in the past. In addition to having a fun time, renewing acquaintances from last year's Inn activities and meeting new Inn members, the event was an initial opportunity for members of the various Pupilage Groups to start initial discussion of potential programs for the rest of the Inn's 2014-2015 season.

The Annual Reception and Dinner of the Inn was again held at the Union League Club. At this January 14, 2015 dinner Anthony Giaccio, Chair of the Inn's Executive Committee, made the opening remarks. Judge Roslynn R. Mauskopf, President of the Inn, and Judge J. Paul Oetken, Counselor of the Inn, added additional welcoming remarks. Then the Inn presented two 2015 Conner Inn Excellence Awards. One of the awards was given to Hon. Denny Chin, Circuit Judge, United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. The award was presented by last year's recipient, the Hon. Robert A. Katzmann, Chief Judge, United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. The other award was presented to Hon. Sharon Prost, Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. It was presented by the Hon. Richard Linn, Senior Circuit Judge of that Court. Well over 20 district court and circuit court judges attended.

As part of a celebration of 225 Years of Intellectual Property Litigation before the Southern District of New York, Inn members Stephen Elkind, Anthony Lo Cicero, John Lane, Edmond Bannon, Dorothy Auth, William McCabe, Candice Hebden, Emily Holt, Puja Sharma and Amelia Wong, put on a play entitled "The Famous Case of National Kink Safety Pin Co. v. International Bump Co. et al." The Inn members acted as litigants before the Hon. J. Paul Oetken, the Hon. Roslynn Mauskopf and Hon. Barbara Jones (Ret.).

The play, which relates to infringement of a patent on a safety pin with a kink, was written in the 1920s by a member of the New York Patent Law Association (now the New York Intellectual Property Law Association) and was first presented at its Third Annual Judges Dinner in 1924. The program was held at the Thurgood Marshall Courthouse in the Ceremonial Courtroom. Following the play Inn members Bruce Abramson, Nika Aldrich, Dale Carlson, Margaret Diamond, David Fuller and Puja Sharma presented a concise history of prominent intellectual property cases litigated in the Southern District of New York.

At the March 17th meeting a mock oral argument before the U.S. Supreme Court was presented on the whether the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals was correct in holding in Commil USA v. Cisco Systems that a defendant's belief that a patent is invalid is a defense to induced infringement. The presentation was based on the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in Global-Tech Appliances in which it held that induced infringement under 35 USC 271(b) requires knowledge that the induced acts constitute patent infringement and that deliberate indifference to a known risk that a patent exists does not satisfy the knowledge required by section 271(b). Melvin Garner presented the problem, Jacob Baldinger, James Dabney, Henry Gutman and Eric Lobenfeld made the arguments. Judges Mauskopf and Oetken acted as the Court.

During the April 22nd meeting the Inn followed a tradition in having local high school students act as a jury in a case. The closing arguments in the trial of who owns "Left Shark" were made by Anne Li, Robert Curcio, Vincent Rubino and Ethan Simonowitz, with Judge Oetken acting as the Court. The question concerned the celebrity of an internet meme that is so closely associated with a particular celebrity as to be inextricably linked. In the Super Bowl where Katy Perry appeared, one of the dancers to her left was in a shark outfit that her team designed. A third party made a 3D printout of the left shark. Ms. Perry's rights (copyright, unfair competition) were explored. The members got to watch the students deliberate on closed-circuit TV. Afterwards the participants got the opportunity to question the students about their deliberations, particularly the parts of the argument that were most convincing.

The May 20th meeting was based on a game show, i.e., "Name that IP Tune." The members broke up into teams. The pupilage group, made up of Ashley Borom, Jeffrey Butler, Anthony Harwood, Anne Marie Hassett, Stuart Pollack and Joseph Sherinsky, asked various IP questions of the groups of members and kept score. The questions were from all areas of IP law. Some of them were in the form of snippets of recorded music designed to help the members identify the answers to the IP questions. The contest was close until the double jeopardy round when a winner emerged.

The last meeting of the Inn year was on June 17, 2015. It was a mock argument to the U.S. Supreme Court on the issues presented in Kimble v. Marvel Enterprises. In that case the patent was on a toy that allows a person to shoot foam string from the palm of their hand, much like Spider Man. The litigation was settled on the basis of the defendant taking an assignment of the patent in exchange for royalties on its Spider Man toy sales. When Marvel's royalty payments extended beyond the expiration of the patent, it stopped making payment and Kimble sued. The issue was whether the Supreme Court should overrule its 1964 case of Brulotte v. Thys, which held that it was illegal to collect patent royalties for use of the invention beyond the expiration of the patent. Melvin Garner introduced the case, which was argued by Rachel Lin, Jeffrey Lewis, Frank Porcelli, Leslie Spencer and Robert Perry. Judge Mauskopf acted as the Court. John Lane led a discussion of the case after the argument.

He is a Fellow of the American Bar Foundation.

After graduating from the University of Rochester in 1960 and Columbia Law School in 1963, Judge Sack clerked for United States District Judge Arthur S. Lane, in the District of New Jersey. He later became an associate and partner at Patterson, Belknap, Webb & Tyler (1964-1986) and a partner at Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher (1986-1998) both in New York City. In 1974, he served as a Senior Associate Special Counsel to the United States House of Representatives Impeachment Inquiry Staff.

Chester J. Straub

Chester J. Straub is a United States Circuit Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. At the time of his appointment in 1998, he was a partner in the New York law firm of Willkie Farr & Gallagher. Judge Straub assumed Senior Status in 2008.

Judge Straub received his B.A. degree from St. Peter's College in 1958, and his LL.B. degree from the University of Virginia Law School in 1961.

Judge Straub served as a First Lieutenant in U.S. Army Intelligence and Security from 1961 to 1963. In 1963, he began the private practice of law with Willkie Farr & Gallagher, where he became a partner in 1971, and where he remained until his appointment as a Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit in 1998. Judge Straub's private practice was concentrated in litigation, regulatory agencies and governmental affairs. During this period he also served as a New York State Assemblyman from 1967 until 1972 and as a New York State Senator from 1973 until 1976. He also served as a mediator/neutral evaluator in the District Courts for the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York, and as a special master for the New York State Supreme Court in the 1st Judicial Department.

Judge Straub was Chair of Gov. Mario Cuomo's New York Statewide Judicial Screening Committee from 1988 until 1994 and of the First Department Screening Committee from 1983 until 1994. He was a member of Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan's Judicial Selection Committee from 1976 until 1998.

Judge Straub served as a member of the Lenox Hill Hospital Board of Trustees, the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity for Catholic Charities of New York, and the Kosciusko Foundation.

Judge Straub is a native of Brooklyn.

John M. Walker, Jr.

John M. Walker, Jr. is a United States Circuit Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. At the time of his appointment to the Court in 1989, he was a United States District Judge in the Southern District of New York.

Judge Walker received his B.A. degree from Yale University in 1962, and his J.D. degree from the University of Michigan Law School in 1966.

Judge Walker served in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserves from 1963 until 1967. From 1966 until 1968, he was State Counsel to the Republic of Botswana under the aegis of an Africa-Asia Public Service Fellowship. Judge Walker was a private law practitioner in New York from 1969 to 1970.

From 1970 to 1975 he served as an Assistant United States Attorney in the Criminal Division, Southern District of New York. In 1975 he returned to private law practice with the New York firm of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn, where he was initially an associate and later a partner. In 1981 Judge Walker became Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, responsible for policy in law enforcement, regulatory, and trade matters, and with oversight of the Customs Service, Secret Service, Federal Law Enforcement Training Center, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, and the Office of Foreign Assets Control. Judge Walker remained in this position until 1985, when he became a United States District Judge for the Southern District of New York.

Judge Walker has served as Special Counsel to the U.S. Administrative Conference (1987-1992); president of the Federal Judges' Association (1993-1995); and member of the Budget Committee of the Judicial Conference of the United States (1991-1999). He has been a Visiting Lecturer at Yale Law School since 2000; an Adjunct Professor at NYU Law School since 1996; and Director and on the faculty of NYU Law School's Institute of Judicial Administration and Appellate Judges Seminar since 1992. Judge Walker has also been a Director of the U.S. Association of Constitutional Law since 1997. Judge Walker is married with a daughter and three stepsons.
